Standards of behaviour on the University's institutional and official social media accounts

Ca' Foscari University of Venice advocates positive and respectful dialogue and free exchange of opinions on its social media accounts. Users engaging with these channels must respect other users and their opinions, in compliance with basic norms of good manners, respect and common sense.

Administrators of the University's accounts commit to act as moderators of these channels of communication and reserve the right to remove content considered inappropriate, such as:

- Content that would be discriminatory, racist, sexist, false, offensive, sacrilegious, deceptive or rude, with disrespectful and unsuitable choices of words that instigate violence or damage the dignity or reputation of other people, the image of the University or the decorum of institutions;
- Advertisements or commercials of any kind, political propaganda, campaigns or indications of voter preference, encouragements to illegal activities, ad hominem attacks or threats, spam and use of languages that the administrators are not able to read;
- Content or comments that are off topic, comments inserted repeatedly or content published for the sole purpose of interrupting a discussion
- Obscene or pornographic content or links to said content;
- Contents that include personal data. We suggest using private messaging (if available on the Social Media Platform used) or the University's email addresses to contact the University for personal reasons.

Administrators reserve the right to block users violating the rules listed above.

Ca' Foscari University of Venice will not be held responsible for content published by third parties on Social Media accounts relating to the University.

You can find a full list of the University's institutional and official social media accounts on the page www.unive.it/social.
