Marie Skłodowska-Curie
Individual Fellowships

@ Ca' Foscari University of Venice
1st Host in Italy and in the European top 10

Who can apply?

Experienced researchers: you should have obtained a doctoral degree, or at least four years of full-time equivalent research experience.

Types of grants

European Fellowships: spend 12-24 months at a European host institution (either in an EU Member State or Associated Country), in a country where you have not been for more than 12 months over the last 3 years.

Global Fellowships: spend 12-24 months at a partner organisation outside Europe, plus a mandatory 12-month return period at a European host institution like Ca' Foscari University. You should not have been in the partner organisation country for more than 12 months over the last 3 years.

Your topic

You will have the chance to choose freely your research topic, in collaboration with the scientific supervisor of the host organisation.

Financial support

The average salary of a Marie Curie fellow in Italy is around 4000 euros per month (after taxes). The fellowship budget include the following unit costs:

Researcher unit cost (per month)			Institutional unit cost (per month)
Living allowance*	Mobility allowance	Family allowance	Research, training and networking costs	Management and indirect costs
€ 4.880	€ 600	€ 500	€ 800	€ 650

* A country correction coefficient applies to the living allowance.

Why choose Ca' Foscari University of Venice?

We encourage all researchers from abroad to apply for a grant and to choose Ca' Foscari University as Host Institution:

- our research themes match many topics
- we offer an outstanding research environment to carry out their project.

You will have:

- a constant and effective support
- we give you the first three months of your allowance together at the beginning of the fellowship, to make your mobility easier
- an additional year of fellowship (Marie Curie +1) funded by our University, to write an ERC or a collaborative research proposal
- possibility of tenure-track positions for researchers who have been awarded a three-year Global Fellowship
- the support of the Venice Local Organisation of the Marie Curie Alumni Association, to share information and tips on your experience as a Marie Curie Fellow

Matteo Bertelè,
Marie Skłodowska-Curie Fellow at
Ca' Foscari
University

"I am very grateful to Ca' Foscari academic staff and research office for supporting me during the application of the project "GYSIART - A cultural history of comparative art practices and receptions in Cold War Europe (1945-1991)", granted in 2017 with a three-year Marie Skłodowska-Curie Global Fellowship. Upon the obtainment of the fellowship, [...] it was possible to open a three-year tenure-track position as researcher. This opportunity is providing me a groundbreaking enhancement and concrete perspectives in my future scholar career."
