

Call for Applications: Winter School in Interdisciplinary Biodiversity

Venice, 15/11/2024

Following the deadline for applications for the Winter School in Interdisciplinary Biodiversity, the selection process will take place between November 15th and November 29th.

Should the Selection Committee decide to hold interviews with applicants in order to verify their academic profile, motivation, and communication skills, the applicants will be contacted during this period.

In accordance with the Call for Application, final rankings will therefore be available in early December.
