necessary to apply for a student visa.

Prior to departure, students will be required to purchase health insurance covering the entire mobility period, in accordance with the instructions provided by the partner University following the official nomination. Students are strongly advised not to subscribe to any insurance policy other than that recommended by CNU.

Upon arrival at CNU, students will be required to sit a placement test to determine their level of Chinese language proficiency. Based on the test results, students may be required to attend an additional language course. The study plan established by CNU may vary depending on the level to which students are assigned.

At the end of the 3rd year of study, students must successfully complete the final examination for the bachelor's degree programme required by Ca' Foscari. Due to the different academic calendars of the two Universities, students will be able to obtain their bachelor's degree at Ca' Foscari only starting from the Fall graduation session. Students will then be required to:

- attend the 4th year (a.y. 2027/28) at CNU, taking examinations within a previously agreed study plan;
- obtain the HSK 6 Chinese language certification (or equivalent);
- complete the double degree programme by defending their thesis at CNU, which must be written and discussed in Chinese.

Participants in the programme who submit an HSK 4 certificate with a minimum score of 180 points at the application stage will benefit from financial support provided by the Beijing Municipal Government ("Beijing Municipal Foreign Students Scholarship") in the form of a tuition fee waiver at the partner University and coverage of accommodation costs for the first year of mobility.

Only students with an average grade of 80 or above during the first year of mobility will be eligible to receive financial support in the form of a tuition fee waiver for the second year of mobility. Accommodation costs for the second year will in any case be borne by the students.

Failure to submit the HSK 4 certificate with a minimum score of 180 at the application stage will result in exclusion from the benefits of the "Beijing Municipal Foreign Students Scholarship". Students who do not hold the required certification may still participate in the programme at their own expense. Tuition fees amount to approximately RMB 11,800 per semester, while accommodation costs for a double room are approximately RMB 10,080 per semester.

If a student violates the laws of the People's Republic of China or the regulations of the host University, CNU's International Students Office reserves the right to suspend the financial support, and the student will be required to independently pay the tuition fees at CNU.

Should the Beijing Municipal Government discontinue the financial support for reasons beyond the host University's control, the student undertakes to pay the tuition fees at both Universities.

If a student fails to pass one or more examinations, CNU may require the payment of an additional fee.

The financial support provided by the Beijing Municipal Government does not cover administrative fees related to the application and

Once the application is completed and the tuition fee paid, students will receive an Admission letter, which will allow them to apply at Korean diplomatic-consular authorities in Italy for a D-4 visa to attend the language course.

Selected students will be required to arrive at the partner University by mid-November to take the Placement Test for the language course, which will be held approximately between late November and early February. The language course lasts 10 weeks (total of 200 hours).

At the end of the language course, and prior to the start of the academic mobility period, students must apply to convert their visa from D-4 to D-2 at the Daegu Immigration Office. Further information will be provided by the partner University.

For the study mobility period, students will be required to submit a separate application by November 15th 2026, including the following documents:

- copy of a valid passport (page with photograph/personal data);
- application form (provided by the partner University);
- letter of nomination (which can be provided, upon request, by Ca' Foscari University's Welcome Unit);
- official enrolment certificate reporting all the passed exams with grades, signed, stamped and provided with a revenue stamp (marca da bollo) which can be requested following the procedure indicated in this link: Certificates, graduation and supplements diplomas;
- original bank statement demonstrating possession of at least KRW 16,000,000 for one academic year (in the name of the student or a parent).

For students holding non-OECD citizenship, the enrolment certificate must be translated into English or Korean and notarized.

Further information on the application procedure will be provided by the partner University. The partner University may request additional documentation, and students will be promptly informed of any further requirements.

By the end of the mobility period, students participating in the programme must take the examination and obtain the Topik level 5 language certification. Obtaining this certification is a mandatory requirement for obtaining the Korean degree.

Ca' Foscari University of Venice undertakes to recognize the credits earned at KNU during the 4th year of the degree programme for a possible subsequent enrolment in the master's degree in Language and Civilisation of Asia and Mediterranean Africa, allowing for a shortened academic path.

Students departing for the programme are reminded that, in order to obtain the double degree, at least 6 ECTS credits corresponding to activities completed abroad must be recognized in the Ca' Foscari bachelor's degree record. Therefore, students who plan to complete the remaining activities from Ca' Foscari's study plan before departure are advised to ensure that at least 6 ECTS credits are available among elective courses or extra credits, in compliance with the maximum limit of 24 ECTS established by the study programme regulations.
